The RAV-5 EDC folding knife is designed to meet everyday challenges. It will be appreciated by anyone who needs a robust and simple tool that will perform the task assigned to it well.

The appropriate thickness of the blade guarantees the durability of the work. The grooved patterned handle allows the knife to be gripped and held securely. A metal clip allows the knife to be attached to the belt securely.

- Handle material: Aluminum + CF

- Blade profile: Drop Point
- Blade material: 8Cr13MoV

The 8Cr13MoV stainless steel blade is resistant to conditions of use and bad weather. The aluminum and carbon fiber handle is light and durable, and its texture allows for a better grip on the knife. The center of gravity is located at the index finger, which facilitates use. The Liner Lock protects against accidental closing of the blade.

The blade has a Drop Point profile, which provides better performance during work. The spring-assisted opening mechanism allows the blade to be extended effectively. The back of the blade is slightly inclined for better thumb support. Manufacturer's markings are on the clip and both sides of the blade. The clip itself can be unscrewed and attached to the other side, as it is secured by two Torx screws.
