A bolt-action rifle dedicated to the TLD. The quality of its action and its barrel, allows to obtain an incredible precision and excellent target groupings.

Its configuration makes it totally adapted to the new discipline of marksmanship: the PRS (Precision Rifle Series)

The TSPX Chassis brings a tactical and clean design to the whole. Its aeronautical aluminum design brings both great rigidity to the whole, for stable shots but also lightness for more dynamic shots.

Its stock length is adjustable by means of a stock interlayer and the cheek support is also adjustable, in order to adapt to the morphology of each one as well as a different shooting positions (lying, sitting, on support)
