Specially designed for long-distance shooting, the Adversus mount guarantees unparalleled stability and precision, even at extreme ranges.

The Adversus scope mount is a high-end solution designed for the demands of long-range shooting. Made of 6061-T6 aeronautical aluminum, it guarantees exceptional solidity while remaining ultra-light. Its monobloc design ensures rigid support of the scope, minimizing the risk of misalignment, even under the effect of repeated shots with powerful calibers.

This mount incorporates features specifically designed for the TLD, such as a 20 MOA angled base to maximize the elevation range of your scope, essential for hitting targets at very long ranges. Its black anodized finish provides optimum protection against scratches and corrosion, making it ideal for demanding environments.

Compatible with a wide range of high-end scopes, the Adversus mount easily mounts to Picatinny or Weaver rails, providing maximum flexibility for shooters. With its precise adjustment capabilities and proven reliability, it is the go-to choice for snipers and TLD competitors looking to push the limits of accuracy.
