The NUM'AXES CAS1034 electronic ear defenders in khaki are designed to provide effective active hearing protection. Thanks to their impulsive noise reduction technology, they attenuate dangerous sounds such as detonations, while amplifying soft sounds such as voices and warning signals. This dual functionality guarantees increased safety and better awareness of the environment.

Equipped with directional microphones, it delivers a clear and natural sound experience. Its ergonomic design includes an adjustable padded headband for long-lasting comfort, even during extended sessions. The soft ear cushions provide excellent noise isolation while reducing ear fatigue.

Its khaki finish gives it a discreet tactical look, ideal for security professionals, hunters and sport shooters. Powered by batteries, it offers extended autonomy and reliable operation in all conditions. Durable and lightweight, the CAS1034 is built to last and adapt to the most demanding environments.
