The NUM'AXES CAS1036 Bluetooth electronic earmuff combines active hearing protection and wireless connectivity. Thanks to its high-performance noise reduction and integrated Bluetooth module, it allows you to communicate and listen to music while remaining protected in noisy environments. Ideal for professionals and enthusiasts of shooting, hunting or tactical intervention.

- 27 dB noise reduction for the ear
- Bluetooth 5.0 connection system
- Bluetooth battery life: Approximately 26 hours
- 2 built-in microphones
- Comfortable and adjustable headband
- Power supply: 2 AAA batteries (LR03) not supplied
- Comes with a 3.5mm jack cable

The NUM'AXES CAS1036 Bluetooth electronic earmuff is the ideal solution for those looking for advanced hearing protection while staying connected. Equipped with high-precision directional microphones, it attenuates harmful noise while amplifying soft sounds such as voices or warning signals. Its active noise reduction system effectively protects your hearing in noisy environments, particularly during shooting, hunting or industrial work.

With built-in Bluetooth connectivity, you can make calls, listen to music or follow audio instructions without removing the headset. Volume control is located directly on the earpieces for quick and convenient use.

Designed for optimum comfort, the CAS1036 features an adjustable padded headband and soft, isolating ear cushions, ensuring an excellent acoustic seal. Lightweight and ergonomic, it offers extended wear without ear fatigue.

Its extended battery life, resistance to harsh conditions and exceptional sound quality make it an essential choice for demanding professionals and passionate amateurs.
