A precise tool for professionals

The Schmeisser AR15 Model M4FL M-LOK is designed to meet the demands of modern shooters, whether they are tactical operators, gunsmiths or sport shooters. With its .223 REM caliber, it offers remarkable accuracy, controlled recoil and effectiveness at short and medium distances.

An ideal format for versatility

The 14.5" barrel provides the perfect balance between range, maneuverability and light weight, allowing effective use in a variety of environments, whether tactical operations or intensive training.

M-LOK system for total modularity

The integrated M-LOK rail ensures maximum adaptability. Customize your rifle by adding accessories such as lights, lasers or tactical grips, according to your specific needs. This modern attachment system also offers a significant weight reduction compared to traditional rails.

High quality materials

Made from aircraft aluminum, the M4FL is both lightweight and durable, able to withstand the most demanding conditions. Its black anodized finish adds extra protection against scratches and wear.

Additional features:

- Advanced ergonomics: Adjustable stock and ambidextrous controls for comfortable and intuitive use.
- Adjustable Gas System: Allows you to adjust the rifle for smooth, controlled shooting.
- Universal Compatibility: Compatible with standard AR15 magazines for maximum flexibility.
- Simplified maintenance: Easy disassembly for quick and efficient maintenance.

Reliability and precision in the field

Whether you are a security professional or a sports shooter, the Schmeisser AR15 Model M4FL will meet your expectations thanks to its precision, modularity and robustness. Designed to perform in the most demanding tactical environments, it remains a benchmark among modern rifles.
