Standards and Certifications

FABARM STF 12 gauge rifled barrels comply with current safety and quality standards, ensuring reliable and safe use.

Care and Maintenance

To maintain optimum performance, it is recommended to clean the barrel regularly after each use, especially after firing bullets. Use suitable products to remove residue and apply a thin layer of protective oil to prevent corrosion.

Comparison with other models

Compared to smoothbore barrels, the FABARM STF rifled barrel offers superior accuracy when firing bullets, thanks to its internal grooves that stabilize the projectile. In addition, the availability of different lengths allows the weapon to be adapted to the user's specific preferences and needs.
