Chokes Inner HP Accuracy: maximum precision

The FABARM STF/12 Pistol Grip Black is equipped with Inner HP Accuracy chokes, a high-performance choke system that optimizes shooting accuracy. These internal chokes are specially designed to ensure controlled pellet dispersion while providing great versatility for shooting bullets and specialty ammunition. Thanks to this system, users can adapt the range and accuracy of their rifle according to operational needs.

Soft Touch coating: improved comfort and grip

This shotgun benefits from a Soft Touch coating, which improves grip and comfort of use. This specific treatment applied to the handle and stock ensures optimal grip, even in wet conditions or extreme environments. The Soft Touch also offers a pleasant touch, while increasing the durability and scratch resistance of the weapon.

Ergal frame: lightness and robustness

The FABARM STF/12 is distinguished by its Ergal frame , a high-strength aluminum alloy used in the aeronautics industry. This material gives the rifle excellent robustness while maintaining great lightness. Thanks to this design, the STF/12 Pistol Grip Black remains easy to handle during prolonged operations while maintaining rock-solid strength in the face of the most extreme constraints.

Pressure tested at 1630 bars: safety and reliability

Every shotgun in the Fabarm Professional range undergoes rigorous testing. The FABARM STF/12 Pistol Grip Black is pressure tested to 1630 bar , exceeding traditional CIP standards. This increased test pressure ensures maximum safety, even when using high-performance ammunition. This test also ensures long-term reliability, essential for response forces and shooting professionals.
