A modernized 590 platform

The Mossberg 590RM Mag-Fed retains the proven mechanics of the 590 series while incorporating a major innovation: the use of a removable dual-battery magazine . This design allows for high capacity while maintaining a compact and balanced overall size.

The feeding system is designed to ensure quick and secure insertion of the charger thanks to an ergonomic release lever and optimized guidance.

Canon 18.5-inch with integrated hand guard

The 18.5-inch barrel is equipped with an integrated heat shield to limit heat buildup during firing sequences. This configuration also improves overall rigidity while offering a decidedly modern aesthetic.

The rifle is compatible with Mossberg's Accu-Choke system, allowing the dispersion to be adapted according to the use.

Modern ergonomics inspired by tactical platforms

The adjustable stock has 5 adjustment positions allowing the stock length to be adjusted between 12" and 15.25" . It is paired with a Magpul MOE pistol grip offering a firm and comfortable hold.

The ambidextrous rotary safety selector is easily accessible without changing the grip, while the flat trigger provides a crisp and consistent break.

Accessory-ready platform

The rifle is equipped with a top Picatinny rail for mounting modern optics or sights. The fold-down and adjustable Magpul MBUS 3 iron sights provide a reliable aiming solution.

An M-Lok front adapter also allows the installation of accessories such as a tactical light or a sling attachment.
