A modern platform designed for recreational shooting

The Chiappa Bushranger Adamantium® uses the Bushranger platform, renowned for its ease of use and reliability. Compact, lightweight, and well-balanced, it is designed for sport shooting , target shooting , and training enthusiasts who want a rifle that is pleasant to use every day.

Exclusive button-unlock system

After each shot, the bolt remains open. The next cartridge is chambered by simply pressing the release button. This design provides smooth operation while maintaining the principle of controlled manual action. This configuration meets the requirements of the French market for its classification as Category C , in accordance with applicable regulations.

Adamantium® carbon fiber moderator

Supplied as standard with its Adamantium® sound moderator , this version benefits from a genuine carbon fiber construction combined with an internal aluminum structure. This combination offers excellent sound reduction, high thermal resistance, and a remarkably low weight. The moderator is fully removable, making regular maintenance easy.

A rifle ready to receive your accessories

The long Picatinny rail allows for the mounting of a scope or red dot sight, depending on the shooter's preference. Under the handguard, the M-LOK® interface allows for the installation of accessories such as a bipod or other compatible equipment, providing a scalable platform.

Ergonomics and shooting comfort

Its beechwood stock combined with a rubber butt plate ensures a natural grip. Its light weight of only 2.46 kg makes long shooting sessions easier while maintaining excellent maneuverability. The two included 10-round magazines allow for continuous shooting sessions with minimal interruption.
