In this new version, the PX-9 TACTICAL features a compensator integrated into the slide.

It promotes the stability of the weapon when firing and allows for quick re-erecting of the sights between each shot.

The PX-9 TACTICAL comes with 3 sets of grip backstraps and side plates to adapt its pistol grip in width, according to the shooter's morphology.

Its removable Magwell facilitates magazine insertions and also ensures an excellent grip on the side of the weapon.

In terms of ergonomics, the PX-9 features grip grooves at the front and rear of the slide, thus facilitating weapon handling.

In terms of safety, the pistol is equipped at the rear of the slide with a bright red indicator, both visual and tactile, allowing control of whether the firing pin is cocked.

At the ejection window, the extractor also has a bright red part, which when it pops out allows you to check that a round is chambered.
